Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-17 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-17 of U.S. Patent No.

6,645,044. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because a method for chemical mechanical polishing a substrate, comprising:

holding a substrate against a polishing pad with a carrier head; applying a load to the substrate in a loading area with a first chamber in the carrier head; controlling the size of the loading area with a second chamber in the carrier head; and creating relative motion between the substrate and the polishing pad as claimed in the parent application is only different because pressure is not directionally mentioned. However, the function of the parent application renders the mention of pressure as a control mechanism of the chamber obvious. Furthermore this subject matter is addressed in the specification of the parent application as well. The apparatus being claimed is the same device used to accomplish the method as disclosed by the applicant.

Art Unit: 3723

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Zuniga 6,422,927 is being cited but is not being applied because of the Restriction requirement of that application; furthermore, the subject matter is also not the same which is being claimed in the application.
